

A close-up photograph of several interlocking gears. The gears have a dark red or maroon finish on their outer teeth and a silver or metallic finish on the inner surfaces. The perspective is from a slightly elevated angle, looking down into the mesh of the gears, creating a sense of depth and mechanical complexity.

- Jesse Hood - the ability to ask as many questions in art as you want
- Clayton Duff - an airplane ticket to see his cousin, Hilary Duff
- Papa Jon - the ability to not hit immovable objects
- Jesse B. - the month of March because it's the best month of them all!
- Mr. Goldman - the ability to tell Hannah R. & I apart (but you can still call us Ham or Sannah if you like)
- C - the ability to find a Senior Class that made you laugh as much as we did (well, there ya go!)
- Senior Class of 2008 - the ability to keep in touch and live successful lives (I love you guys!)
- Mr. R - the ability to have a stress free day

Senior Wills

I, Molly Ingersoll, will the following:

I will Tyler Yokley the ability to finish his art project on time. I will Joe Mills to realize that he is not a girl and needs to get his hair cut. I will Haley Eads to always be the hilarious person she is. I will Hannah England to stick up for herself when people make fun of her for wearing yellow like Brittany Rost. I will Jared Yokley the power to control his anger. I will Hannah Day to always be the MVP in baseball and to always be the sweet person she is. I will Dylan Cunningham the ability to still look just like Mr. Schatz when he gets older. I will the Coakleys the ability to stay away from girls that have boyfriends. I will Megan Niebarger the ability to be able to stay away from CJ for one year. I will Tyler Niebarger the ability to realize taht he will never be able to be a true hippy.

I, Nicholas Kmetz, will the following:

- To Mrs. Schilawski, the ability to remain calm in times of crisis
- To Joe Bateman, a lifetime supply of joke books
- To Courtney Dalton, my ability to play the piano
- To Mr. Cunningham (aka C), the ability to someday get on Jeopardy!
- To Brielle Jones (aka hotshot), the ability to keep on breaking sports records
- To the future classes of D-W, I leave you with these words: "Watch what you say or do, because little eyes are watching you."

I, CJ Palombo Sr., will the following:

I will C the power to let the kids play dodgeball at least once a year. I will Amdor the power to hit kids with her pimp cane. I will Jon a new truck and ability not to crash it. I will Jake the power to stay cool. I will Tyler Neibarger the power to remain a hippie. I will Nash the power to stay buff. I will Zach the power not to steal other people's magic cards. I will Jen the power to always have a smile. I will the whole senior class love, frienship and the ability to stay in touch when we move on. I will Megan my heart, all my love, and the power to make it through your senior year without me.

I, Hannah Reynolds, will the following:

- Joe Mills - the ability to train mokeys to talk
 - Clayton - the weed eater from the equipment room
 - Critter - the ability to keep asking stupid questions during art class
 - Papa - the ability to not go to Branson EVERY weekend
 - Austin - the ability to not be a dark shadow for a day
 - Mr. R. == to always love and remember good ol' Corey Matthews (aka Ben Savage, RIP)
 - C - the ability to keep wearing your black and blue shirt so you look like a bruise
 - Timmy & Seth - to never change and always stay the same
 - Tyler Y - all the goughnuts & to call them what I always call them.
- To tell everyone: "Hugs not drugs."
- Tayler & Kristin - to stay the coolest people in your class
 - Zach - the ability to get through the day without hugging me
 - Hannah E - a lifetime supply of yellow shirts to wear everyday

Senior Wills

I, Jeremy Swoverland, will the following:

- To Joe Mills, the ability to realize the DeLand DOES have electricity.
- To Jared Yokley, my ability to stay calm for just one day!
- To Austin Porter, the ability to pass on his amazing dark shadow abilities to a new person (haha).
- To Zach Roberts, the ability to realize I will school you any day in basketball!
- To Tyler Niebarger, the knowledge of hte hippies and all their peace and love and rock & roll.
- To Josh Becker (Red), the ability to keep standing up for yourself and realize you really can be anything you want to.
- To Jon Brashear, my driving abilities.
- To Jesse Wright, the ability to keep being the beast you are (haha).
- To all the underclassmen, the ability to do your work now, that way your senior year all you have to do is just "chill" (That's for you, Critter!).

I, Jen Weddle, will the following:

- Haley Eads - I will you the ability to realize how beautiful and smart you truly are. You're one of my best friends ever, and I hope you never forget it. Bubbles, frogs, blue Kool-aid, and P.O. will always be with us. I also will you the ability to get through next year without me and to do some amazing things with your life.
- Kassie Deedrick - I will you the ability to get through the last year without me and try not to get into too much trouble. I'll never find a friend as great as you. We'll have to stay Korean for life, and remember - try not to spy on people through windows.
- Nash Ramage - I will you the ability to realize I did not call you a prep. I hope that you enjoy your last year of high school, and I'm sure your football season will go great! Good luck with everything!
- Kristin Weaver - I will you to be outgoing and to tell people how you feel. You're smart and pretty, and you shouldn't let anyone stop you from doing what you want.
- Tayler Neumann - I will you the ability to get through high school without any drama and to stay awesome. It was great getting to know you, and I hope that you enjoy high school as much as I did. It goes by really fast.
- Ms. Kolozy - You've been one of the greatest English teachers I've ever had. I will you the ability to always be a great teacher and make a difference in each student's life.
- Mrs. Vicich - I will I would have met you sooner. You're an awesome teacher, a great person to talk to, and you also give great advice.
- Mr. Cunningham - No matter how annoyed you got by our class, you still always cared. You're one of the best teachers here, and I hope you never forget it. I will you a lifetime supply of golf balls so you can realx and play golf when you retire.
- For all the remaining students @ Del-Wel - I hope that your high school years are drama-free, and that you enjoy everything. Actually DO your homework. The teachers DO know what they're talking about. Good luck with everything and your futures.

I, Josh Taylor, will the following:

- Big Jesse - I will you to grow a mullet.
- David - Try to be a better Halo player than me.
- Megan N - I will you to be very happy with CJ.
- Tim - I will you to learn how not to almost blow up a car with an amp.
- Jack Jordan - Stay the smartest in your class and hopefully get far away from here.
- Zach Roberts - realize college ball is better than NBA.
- Nash - Become the most athletic student that ever came out of Del=Wel.
- Josh Becker - Not to get knocked unconscious in baseball.
- Papa - To realize that you did bend your frame, but it would help not to hit things.
- Swove & I will ED a lifetime supply of voodoo mist and "stain be gone."

So much can happen in a year's worth of time. This has been a very busy year for me personally, in the classroom, and for our yearbook staff! We had book troubles and ended up with a great all color book! And we were able to sell it cheaper, too!

I have so many people to thank for the collaboration of this great project. Thank you to my yearbook staff! Footwork and selling on your part is what makes this job great! Thanks for getting so many pictures in, too! We can not have a yearboook without pictures!

A special thanks to Jen Weddle, our president. She went above and beyond the call many many times! Thanks to Cheryl Jones - the one with all the answers. I do not know what I would do if I didn't have you helping over there!

Thanks especially to Samantha Day, Hannah Reynolds, Joe Bateman, and Jon Brashear for your extra work on the pages of the book!

A personal thanks to my husband, Aaron...you make each day worthwhile. I have never experienced anything like this love we have, and I don't seem worthy of it. You amaze me daily, and I can't wait for the rest of my life with you!

Thanks to my parents for helping to make me who I am; Donna & Larry for loving me and welcoming me with open arms into the family; my bros & sis for being the best kind of friends a girl could have! Love you all!

I'm looking forward to what next year holds!
Be blessed, and look forward to tomorrow!
